FOR SALE-Leis in the new fown of Kennard, in the center of Houston county, Texas, are now for sale. Kennard is the present terminus of the Eastern Texas Bailway, and is located in the heart of a very fine agricultural county. There will be about 10,000 bales of cotton marketed at Kennard the first year. There is now building within two miles of Kennard and will be in operation by the middle of April one of the large-teaw mills in the South, having pay roll of $25,000 per month. Business men know what that means for a town. Kennard is nicely located in a very healthy section of the county, and plenty of good water. Business men of all kinds fre invited to investigate. We think we will have the largest town in the county in two years. For any information in regard to country and town of Kennard. Texas, spply to A. MacTavish, Coitharp, Texas.
